

2010/2011 | Gratitude Report

You're holding in your hands a Gratitude Report that was created just for you. As a supporter of Second Harvest, you are hand-in-hand with us each and every day, rescuing fresh food and using it to feed hungry people. Thank you!

Do you see the apple in Melissa's hand on the next page? This apple represents fresh food that is rescued by Second Harvest and ends up in the hands of a hungry person in our city. Now imagine 16,000 apples - and that's what you make possible every single day.

As you turn each page, look at your own hands. Your hands are part of our story too. Without your support, we simply could not do what we do.

Second Harvest was created with a simple, common-sense approach to hunger. As you follow the apple, remember that at the heart of what we do is a shared commitment to reach out and lend a helping hand and feed our neighbours.

As the apple passes from one person to another, it represents the sharing of food – and love – with our neighbours.

All because of you.

Melissa Dedic, Second Harvest Foodraiser

Melissa makes connections with those in the food industry and encourages them to donate their excess food to Second Harvest, instead of letting it go to waste.

“Why are people going hungry in Toronto when perfectly good food is going to waste every day? We rescue excess food, which turns into healthy meals for the many people in need of food assistance in Toronto. For me, it doesn't get any better than that.”

Rosanne Longo, Chair, Longo's Family Charitable Foundation

Rosanne leads Longo's giving program and ensures that excess food from their stores is donated to Second Harvest.

“At Longo's we're all about families helping families. Knowing that the excess fresh and perishable foods are being picked up and prepared for those in need, especially when 40% of the recipients are children, we know it's the right thing to do.”

Blayne Walker, Second Harvest Driver

Blayne rescues excess, fresh food and delivers it to community agencies that feed people in need all across the city.

“The work of Second Harvest crosses all boundaries of politics, religion, age and gender. Everybody eats – that’s a basic human right! Second Harvest provides the link to those in need. My customers are always happy to see me. Second Harvest is a dynamic organization and values me as an important person in achieving their goal of not letting anyone in the community go hungry. I love it.”

Jane Ross, Second Harvest Volunteer

Jane volunteers in the Second Harvest warehouse two days a week, sorting food and getting it ready for the drivers to load it onto the trucks.

“I feel useful. I feel like we can do it. I know that people are receiving food through the agencies and thus able to live fuller, more productive lives. I also know the value of food from growing my own produce. It’s an enormous amount of work. I feel good about rescuing the crops of other people’s hard work and preventing it from going to landfill sites.”

Jo-Anne Sobie, Second Harvest Executive Director

Jo-Anne leads our team in fulfilling our mission to help feed hungry people by picking up excess fresh food and delivering it to social service agencies in Toronto.

“I feel fortunate that I have never needed food support. I go to the supermarket, buy what I want, and cook it in my own kitchen. I have always been aware of the needs of those in Toronto who are not so fortunate. It is truly an honour to be in a position to do something that will make a difference, not some day in the future - but today and every day for children, youth, women escaping violence, or those who are simply down on their luck. I take great pride in leading this organization into the future.”

Kevin A. Li, Head of Corporate Finance, CIBC World Markets

Kevin leads CIBC World Markets' Lunch Money Day fundraiser and is also a personal donor.

“Hunger should be a largely solvable problem in today's society if we put our minds to it.”

Iris Bartraw, St. Felix Centre, Program Director & Kitchen Manager

Iris works in the kitchen at St. Felix Centre serving healthy, nutritious meals to those in her community who are experiencing challenges including homelessness, mental illness, addictions, violence, malnutrition, abuse, insufficient education and lack of positive role models.

“Without the support of Second Harvest, we couldn’t feed hungry kids, homeless people, seniors living on a low income. There are so many people in our neighbourhood who are struggling. We have 50 children coming to our meal programs five days a week, some of them all by themselves. They need to eat.”

Lana Lâm, St. Felix Centre Client

Lana attends community programs and helps cook in the kitchen at St. Felix Centre.

“I go to St. Felix Centre because everyone there is so kind. Good food, good volunteers and good activities for me like yoga, dancing, cooking and eating. The food I receive there makes me feel good inside and out. It makes me feel that there is somebody in this world that cares about me. I am old, they make my last days on earth fulfilling.”

You've followed the Second Harvest apple through this Report... and now we celebrate our Second Harvest family of supporters who make this all possible.

You.

We are proud to list our corporate partners, community and foundation donors, food donors, individual donors and our monthly donors. Each and every one of you helps us rescue fresh food and feed hungry people.

We are inspired and a little bit humbled by the names on our list. We hope that seeing your name in such distinguished company makes you feel good about your support of our cause.

Thank you. So much.

Rescuing and delivering 6.8 million pounds of food in one year takes a tremendous group effort. It involves 600 food donors, 7,700 financial donors, 1,400 volunteers, more than 200 community agencies, 7 trucks, and a passionate staff and Board. Now that's a network of Food Rescuers.

We are incredibly grateful to work with every one of our supporters. Last year, together, we:

-  Provided 16,000 meals each day to our most vulnerable neighbours
-  Started serving 4 new community agencies through our Food Rescue & Delivery program
-  Introduced a new program, SHOP (Second Harvest Outreach Program), serving fresh produce to residents of a high-demand neighbourhood through a monthly farmer's style market
-  Maintained our cost to deliver one meal at 50 cents
-  Conducted a review of our Board by-laws and policies
-  Increased awareness of food rescue in Toronto
-  Engaged community volunteers in over 15,000 hours of service

Over the last 26 years we have prevented more than 70 million pounds of good food from being wasted and fed millions of hungry neighbours.

We are also grateful that there is more food out there to be rescued, because with each day that passes, the number of people going hungry in Toronto grows. Thankfully, we also know there are more Food Rescuers like you in our community.

In our collective efforts to feed those who are hungry, we will continue to strive for excellence, efficiency, transparency, and social impact. Whether we donate food, fundraise or volunteer, we can all feed it forward.
